Learning objectives

- Separate legal minimums from unverified AITS arrangements.
- Recognize the ordinary statutory baseline and its limits.
- Locate current leave guidance and avoid outdated figures.
- Communicate professionally and protect personal information.

Statutory rights and company documents

AITS-C02-L01 | 15 minutes | Draft

Objective: Separate legal minimums from unverified AITS arrangements.

Prerequisites: AITS-C01

Thai statutory employment protections and an employer's additional benefits are different sources of entitlement. A company handbook may explain administration and provide more generous arrangements, but this training has not verified AITS benefits, payroll rules or leave approval channels. Ask for current employment terms, work rules, pay records and the applicable HR contact.

Keep copies of documents you are entitled to hold and ask for clarification when terms are unclear. Record the actual dates and facts of a concern. Do not assume that signing a document makes every term lawful. Individual questions require review of current Thai law, the employment relationship and relevant exceptions by a qualified HR or legal reviewer.

Worked example

A colleague says AITS grants a particular bonus. No approved policy is supplied. Treat that as unverified, not as an entitlement.

Try it

Create two columns: statutory topics to verify and company arrangements to obtain.

Your response: _____

Compare your reasoning

Statutory: hours, rest, leave and wage protections. Company: work schedule, extra benefits, request channel and designated contacts.

Remember

Law and company benefits have different sources Obtain current employment documents Record facts when raising concerns

Hours rest and holidays

AITS-C02-L02 | 15 minutes | Draft

Objective: Recognize the ordinary statutory baseline and its limits.

Prerequisites: AITS-C02-L01

For ordinary work, Ministry of Labour guidance describes normal limits of eight hours a day and 48 hours a week, with lawful arrangements and sector exceptions requiring review. Specified hazardous work has a seven-hour daily and 42-hour weekly limit. The ordinary rest rule provides at least one hour after no more than five consecutive working hours; agreed split breaks and statutory exceptions must be checked.

The general baseline includes at least one weekly holiday with no more than six days between, at least 13 traditional holidays including National Labour Day, and at least six working days of annual holiday after one continuous year. These are legal baselines, not a statement of the AITS roster. Overtime consent, exceptions and pay should be checked separately; do not infer that a customer deadline overrides them.

Worked example

A fictional roster appears to schedule continuous work without a break. Identify the concern and ask HR to check the actual arrangement and exceptions.

Try it

Annotate a sample 09:00–18:00 schedule with a one-hour midday break, then list what remains unknown.

Your response: _____

Compare your reasoning

Eight working hours are shown. Weekly total, holiday arrangements, actual duties and any overtime remain to be verified.

Remember

Ordinary baseline: 8 hours/day and 48/week Rest and weekly holidays matter AITS schedules remain unverified

Leave categories and recent changes

AITS-C02-L03 | 15 minutes | Draft

Objective: Locate current leave guidance and avoid outdated figures.

Prerequisites: AITS-C02-L02

Leave categories include sickness, necessary personal business, maternity, qualifying spouse support, sterilization, military service and training, each with conditions and payment rules. Sick leave and paid sick-leave limits are different concepts. Do not use an old overview as the sole source for current allowances.

The official explanation of the 2025 amendment, effective 7 December 2025, describes maternity leave of up to 120 days with employer-paid wages up to 60 days. It also describes up to 15 days of qualifying continuous child-care leave at 50% wages with the required medical evidence, and up to 15 days to assist a spouse who gives birth, paid in full, subject to the application and 90-day timing rules. These are statutory summaries, not AITS benefits. HR/legal review must confirm current text and individual eligibility before release.

Worked example

An older Ministry overview still says 90 maternity days. The newer official amendment explanation supersedes that figure for the relevant covered situation.

Try it

Write a respectful request for current leave guidance without sharing medical details in a group chat.

Your response: _____

Compare your reasoning

Please confirm the applicable leave category, current entitlement, required documents and private submission channel for my circumstances.

Remember

Check amendment and effective date Leave duration and pay are separate Submit sensitive evidence privately

Conduct confidentiality and concerns

AITS-C02-L04 | 15 minutes | Draft

Objective: Communicate professionally and protect personal information.

Prerequisites: AITS-C02-L03

General professional practice includes accurate records, respectful communication, honesty about mistakes and protection of information entrusted to you. Collect only information needed for the legitimate task and share it only with authorized recipients through approved systems. This is privacy awareness, not a complete interpretation of Thailand's PDPA or an AITS retention policy.

Before sending a document, check recipient, attachment, purpose and sensitivity. Never put customer passwords into a ticket or AI practice chat. For a concern, separate what you observed from what you suspect, preserve relevant evidence lawfully, and use a verified responsible channel. If the usual contact is implicated, seek an alternative authorized route. This lesson does not invent a company grievance procedure or promise a particular investigation outcome.

Worked example

A fictional employee receives a customer list by mistake. Stop further sharing and report the misdelivery through the verified internal route.

Try it

Rewrite an accusatory message as an observation, impact and request.

Your response: _____

Compare your reasoning

The file was sent to an unintended recipient at 10:15. It contains contact details. Please advise the authorized containment and reporting steps.

Remember

Separate observation from suspicion Share only with authorized recipients Verify the route for concerns

Practical scenarios

Conflicting leave pages

Synthetic classroom exercise; not an AITS procedure. Role: New employee

Two pages show different maternity allowances. One is an old overview; one explains the effective 2025 amendment.

Decide: What would you check first, and why? What requires confirmation or authorization? What would you record and hand over?

Appropriate: Use the newer applicable official text and request HR verification.

Inappropriate: Copy the old number into the handbook.

Consequence: Version checks prevent outdated rights guidance.

Roster without a break

Synthetic classroom exercise; not an AITS procedure. Role: Team member

A sample work plan appears to omit a rest period. Actual task category and agreement are unknown.

Decide: What would you check first, and why? What requires confirmation or authorization? What would you record and hand over?

Appropriate: Record the schedule and ask the responsible reviewer to check it.

Inappropriate: Assume all work can continue without rest.

Consequence: A factual review can identify the applicable protection.

Misaddressed file

Synthetic classroom exercise; not an AITS procedure. Role: Administrator trainee

A fictional employee file reaches the wrong recipient. The file may include personal details; no actual data is used here.

Decide: What would you check first, and why? What requires confirmation or authorization? What would you record and hand over?

Appropriate: Stop forwarding and report through a verified private channel.

Inappropriate: Upload the full file to a public AI chat.

Consequence: Limiting further disclosure reduces additional exposure.

Use the full scenario JSON for the four-criterion rubric. Score evidence, decision quality, authority/safety and handover from 0–2 each. 0 = absent or unsafe; 1 = partial; 2 = complete and supported. Scores are formative, not certification.

Knowledge check

1. What establishes an additional AITS benefit?

A. A colleague’s guess | B. A generic training example | C. Applicable approved company terms

2. Which record helps resolve a pay concern?

A. A public accusation without facts | B. Accurate dates and relevant pay records | C. An altered screenshot

3. Can this course determine an individual legal dispute?

A. No; facts and current law need qualified review | B. Yes for every worker | C. Yes if the quiz is passed

4. What is the ordinary weekly normal-hours baseline described here?

A. 72 hours | B. 48 hours | C. 60 hours

5. Does the course establish AITS office opening hours?

A. No | B. Yes, 09:00–18:00 | C. Yes, seven days a week

6. What should a missing-break concern trigger?

A. Automatic acceptance because the site is busy | B. Deletion of the time record | C. A factual review of the arrangement and applicable law

Use the answer key after attempting the questions. Proposed practice pass mark: 80%. This is not an AITS competency rule.

7. Which source should resolve an outdated maternity figure?

A. The applicable newer official amendment | B. The oldest cached page | C. A generic company example

8. Does 120 days mean all 120 are employer-paid under this summary?

A. Yes | B. Only if the AI says so | C. No; the summary distinguishes up to 60 paid days

9. Where should sensitive medical evidence be sent?

A. An unknown personal account | B. The verified private authorized channel | C. A public team chat

10. Which detail should be excluded from a troubleshooting ticket?

A. The device model | B. The symptom start time | C. The customer password

11. What is the best opening to a concern report?

A. A demand to delete evidence | B. Specific observed facts | C. An unsupported accusation

12. This training establishes the approved AITS grievance procedure.

A. True | B. False

Use the answer key after attempting the questions. Proposed practice pass mark: 80%. This is not an AITS competency rule.

Answer key and references

1. C — Company-specific benefits need company evidence.

2. B — Accurate records allow the issue to be checked.

3. A — Applicability and exceptions require case-specific review.

4. B — Special categories and arrangements still require applicability review.

5. A — The schedule is an exercise only.

6. C — Record facts and obtain competent clarification.

7. A — Effective legislation must be checked instead of copying obsolete summaries.

8. C — Duration and employer payment are distinct.

9. B — Limit disclosure and verify the recipient.

10. C — Passwords should not be copied into routine records.

11. B — Facts help a responsible reviewer investigate.

12. B — The company procedure has not been supplied.
